Report description:

In 2022, pet care is expected to maintain a positive performance, although both value and volume growth will increase at a slower pace than in 2021. The COVID-19 pandemic has not fully faded from view in the first months of 2022, with those infected having to remain quarantined for a certain period. From 11 January 2022, the quarantine time shortened to five days provided the affected person met specific conditions. Although the compulsory quarantine period has become shorter, consumers will con...
