Report description:

The DMF market is projected to grow from USD 2.3 billion in 2022 to USD 2.7 billion by 2027, at a CAGR of 3.2% between 2022 and 2027. The restraints related to the use of DMF is the stringent regulations related to the market.

"Chemicals end-use industry segment is estimated to be the largest segment of the DMF market."

DMF is used as a solvent for resins and plastics in the chemical industry and to manufacture acrylic fibers, films, surface coatings, PU elastic filament (Spandex), optical brighteners, and derivatives of DMF in the chemical end-use industry. DMF is used to make PU, acrylic fibers, coatings, and adhesives in the chemical end-use industry. It is used as a feedstock for the production of PU, which is an important raw material in the chemical industry. It is in high demand in a wide range of consumer-related applications. PU products are found everywhere. It is one of the most versatile materials, which offers the elasticity of rubber combined with the toughness and durability of metal. PU absorbs weight, improves durability, enhances insulation in the products, and adds comfort & resiliency. It is used in the production of PU-coated synthetic leathers, shoe soles, and PU-elastic filament (Spandex). DMF is also used as a reactant in wastewater treatment. It is combined with a polymer, and this mixture is passed through water. DMF gets dissolved in water, as it is more miscible with water. This gives polyvinylidene difluoride more strength to form fibers, and this bunch of fibers is used to treat the wastewater.
