Report description:

Volume sales increased in 2021, after the dramatic decline the previous year, due to COVID-19 restrictions. Volume growth was in the double-digits through on-trade channels, which is a significant channel for wine. Volume growth was more muted through retail channels, though demand for premium, local and international wines is growing. Also, with the pandemic still lingering, overall volume sales were still lower than before the onset of COVID-19.
