Report description:

Cigarettes continued its downward trajectory in terms of retail volume sales in 2021. The rise in prices, due to the raising of excise tax in November 2021, was one of the reasons for this. With the lingering effect of the COVID-19 pandemic and rising inflation, consumer purchasing power declined, negatively affecting sales of cigarettes in 2021. Many consumers switched to cheaper tobacco products such as cigarillos and fine cut tobacco in 2021, or gave up or reduced smoking.
