Report description:

Cigarettes continued to account for most volume sales of tobacco in 2021. The 2020 COVID-19 restrictions led to decreased volume sales, as with people socialising less, they also smoked less. However, in 2021, with society opening up, volume sales were even higher than before the pandemic, with smoking prevalence bucking the declining trend of the review period and increasingly slightly in 2021. Conversely, as discussed below, illicit volume sales were also significantly higher and impacted huge...
