Report description:

Despite the resumption of travel in 2022, demand for in-car entertainment continues to decline. Developments in the automobile industry in Romania offer little room for development of in-car entertainment. Most new automobiles come with in-car entertainment devices integrated as standard or as optional built-in extras, thus diminishing the need for new purchases. In addition, improvements to the country's road infrastructure encourage more Romanians to purchase new cars.

IN-CAR ENTERTAINMENT IN ROMANIA

KEY DATA FINDINGS

2022 DEVELOPMENTS

Growth in smartphones, new car models with integrated devices and delayed purchases of new and used cars negate the need for in-car entertainment

Soaring inflation places a downward pressure on sales of in-car entertainment devices

Growing product awareness and knowledge increase demand for good quality branded devices although private label also develops and is popular among lower socioeconomic groups

PROSPECTS AND OPPORTUNITIES

Purchases of new cars as well as tax initiatives to discourage purchases of imported cars and boost the national industry diminish category sales

Rising demand for in-car speakers as consumers unable to afford to purchase a new car upgrade their in-car sound systems

New product developments focus on connectivity diminishing demand for in-car navigation over the forecast period
