Report description:

As seen in vitamins, the popularity of dietary supplements has been further boosted by the event of the pandemic. According to survey results from "Poles and Dietary Supplements 2022", just over two-thirds of Polish consumers already take dietary supplements, and many stated they became more likely to use dietary supplements during and after the pandemic. The interest in dietary supplements is, on the one hand, related to the desire to strengthen immunity for fear of contracting COVID-19 and, on...
