Report description:

In 2022, Bolivians returned to similar levels of physical activity seen pre-pandemic levels with sports practice normalising and universities and schools returned to face-to-face classes. As a result, wound care current value sales returned ??to pre-pandemic levels. With the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020, lower levels of physical activity in general led to fewer incidences of injuries, thus reducing value sales of wound care products. Lockdown had another less direct affect too, as cons...
