Report description:

Wound care registered flat growth in 2020. With people going out less due to lockdowns and less outdoor activities and gyms being closed, there was fewer minor injuries as a result, which fed into lower value sales for wound care. In addition, with schools and kindergartens closed across the country, children suffered fewer cuts and bruises. With society opening up gradually in 2021, value sales increased and this is expected to continue in 2022. Gauze, tape and other wound care is expected to r...
