Report description:

Cases of influenza increased and there was a return to growth for COVID-19 infections in Brazil during the first half of 2022. This was due to the return of students to public and private schools, in addition to the hybrid work regime adopted by companies. The appearance of variants of the influenza virus, such as H3N2, also contributed to the rising number of infections in the country. This led to a significant increase in the demand for cough, cold and allergy (hay fever) remedies, and in 2021...
