Report description:

Sleep aids is a very small product area in Taiwan in terms of value sales with many insomnia sufferers preferring to try more natural methods or dietary supplements to aid restfulness. However, the pandemic and its subsequent stresses has led to increased problems with sleep. Working from home has meant that work and home life have become blurred, disrupting people's ability to switch off. In addition, more time on devices (thus exposing consumers to blue light) tends to disturb sleep patterns.
