Report description:

The number of overweight and obese people in the world, and Algeria, is rapidly growing. As such, demand for weight management and wellbeing is supported by the rising number of overweight and obese Algerian consumers in 2022. According to Algerian health specialists, the number of both obese children and adults is rising each year. Moreover, home seclusion in 2020 and 2021 as a result of the pandemic led to most Algerians being far less active, especially during the extremely restrictive early...
