Report description:

The COVID-19 pandemic caused opposing trends for retail value sales of analgesics as most consumers panicked bought these products and stocked up in 2020, then demand fell in 2021 as consumers first finished the analgesics they had stocked up on. But in 2022, retail value sales is accelerating again as consumers return to pre-pandemic lifestyle trends. The Finnish government gradually lifted all limitations on movement from 2021 and the normal cold and flu season resumed at full force from Finla...
