Report description:

Having seen double digit-growth in 2021, retail constant value sales (2022 prices) of analgesics declined for the first time in well over a decade during 2022. In 2021, the COVID-19 pandemic boosted demand for analgesics, as people believed that it was necessary to keep analgesics at home as a precautionary measure. Adult and paediatric acetaminophen performed particularly well, as acetaminophen was widely discussed in the media as being the most effective analgesic in terms of alleviating COVID...
