Report description:

With the end of lockdowns, children have returned to in-person classes and have resumed activities such as sports and play in the garden. The reopening of schools, sports events and venues is leading to more active lifestyles and greater potential for the kind of wounds that require treatment with OTC wound care products. Current value sales rose at a faster rate in 2022 moving back into double-digit growth rates. Egyptian consumers would rather keep selected products such as bandages, antibioti...
