Report description:

Retail volume sales of edible oils declined for the first time in at least 15 years during 2022, amid a sharp rise in unit price. However, retail constant value sales (2022 prices) continued to rise-albeit at a slightly more sluggish rate than in either 2020 or 2021, when demand was boosted by pandemic restrictions.

Euromonitor International's Edible Oils in Ireland report offers in-depth knowledge of the market at a national level, providing local insight and understanding unavailable elsewhere. In addition to the latest retail sales data 2017-2021, it identifies the leading companies, brands and retail outlets, and assesses the key trends and demographic shifts behind consumer demand and sales growth. How key trends such as health and wellness, sustainability and recovery from the pandemic are shaping the market in <|Year|> directly informs our forecasts to 2026, clearly indicating how the market is expected to change.
