Report description:

The second half of 2021 and the first half of 2022 were good surprises for sales of jewellery which started their recovery sooner than anticipated in accordance to last year's reporting edition. Until winter 2021, the closure of non-essential stores and the absence of inbound tourists, resulting from the COVID-19 crisis, had a severe impact on sales of jewellery in France. Upmarket and luxury products, in particular, have paid the price for their reliance on sales to inbound tourists, primarily...
