Report description:

Retail volume sales of processed fruit and vegetables are expected to continue to decline in 2022. This decline in volume sales is largely due to the base effect. Retail sales of processed fruit and vegetables rose substantially during 2020 when Canadians were confined to the home during the COVID-19 pandemic and ensuing lockdowns. As life resumes a sense of normalcy in 2022 and consumers spend more time outside of the home, demand is anticipated to continue to decline. On the other hand, the in...
