Report description:

Retail volume sales of staple foods are mainly characterised by rice and bread, with demand for products such as pasta, breakfast cereals and processed meat and seafood largely limited to affluent urban dwellers. Significant rises in unit prices in 2022 stimulated a shift to smaller pack sizes, with this trend favouring local as opposed to imported variants. Consumer health consciousness is also on the rise, but mainly among wealthier classes, given the higher unit prices of these products.

Euromonitor International's Staple Foods in Ghana report offers in-depth knowledge of the market at a national level, providing local insight and understanding unavailable elsewhere. In addition to the latest retail sales data 2017-2021, it identifies the leading companies, brands and retail outlets, and assesses the key trends and demographic shifts behind consumer demand and sales growth. How key trends such as health and wellness, sustainability and recovery from the pandemic are shaping the market in <|Year|> directly informs our forecasts to 2026, clearly indicating how the market is expected to change.
