Report description:

In early 2022, India witnessed a less intense third wave of COVID-19, while the country's successful vaccination eased local consumers' fears. Accordingly, the government further eased restrictions placed on gyms, health centres, and sports clubs, amongst others. This scenario combined with greater awareness of health and fitness has resulted in a rise in physical activities. Moreover, following the third wave of the virus, offices reopened to accommodate in-person or hybrid working, further inc...
