Report description:

?The demand for processed fruit and vegetables increased during COVID-19, as consumers stockpiled goods during home seclusion. However, moving into 2022, retail value sales are declining as consumers return to pre-COVID-19 habits. Despite this, the cooking and baking at home trend is still relevant, and natural products with health benefits are gaining consumer attention, especially those that include the Heart Symbol, which indicates a healthier choice to consumers.

Euromonitor International's Processed Fruit and Vegetables in Finland report offers in-depth knowledge of the market at a national level, providing local insight and understanding unavailable elsewhere. In addition to the latest retail sales data 2017-2021, it identifies the leading companies, brands and retail outlets, and assesses the key trends and demographic shifts behind consumer demand and sales growth.
