Report description:

The Georgian economy is witnessing a recovery in 2022 as inbound tourism prospers and consumers return to the normal practice of visiting on-trade establishments after the COVID-19 pandemic. Greater levels of social interaction are occurring as Georgians spend more time outside their houses, which is boosting hot drinks sales in foodservice. However, retail volume sales are witnessing a negative performance as consumers are put off by the rising price of tea and coffee. Indeed, whilst some consu...
