Report description:

Sales of microwaves declined in 2021 and during the first half of 2022 due to the significant increase in sales that took place in 2020. Supply chain disruption also affected the category's performance, as there were shortages in the market, especially in the entry level economy segment, which accounts for a very high share within microwaves. Increases in retail prices also affected demand. Consumers are more price sensitive when it comes to microwaves than they are for other major appliances.
