Report description:

COVID-19 had a more muted effect on demand for baby food packaging than it did in a number of other packaged food categories. During the early stages of the pandemic in 2020, concerns about potential supply disruption led some parents to stockpile baby food, particularly powder milk formula, which is the biggest product area in baby food in terms of packaging unit volumes. However, once it became clear that supply chains remained robust, purchasing behaviour began to normalise.

Euromonitor International's Baby Food Packaging in Romania report offers insight into key trends and developments driving packaging across the category. The report also examines trends and prospect for various pack types and closures: metal packaging, rigid plastic, glass, liquid cartons, paper-based containers; flexible packaging.

Product coverage: Dried Baby Food, Milk Formula, Other Baby Food, Prepared Baby Food.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
