Report description:

COVID-19 did not have a significant effect on demand for baby food packaging, with growth slowing only very slightly in 2020, before speeding up again slightly in 2021. While the initial stage of the pandemic did see a degree of stockpiling due to fears of supply-chain disruption, purchasing behaviour soon returned to normal once consumers realised that these fears were groundless.

Euromonitor International's Baby Food Packaging in Sweden report offers insight into key trends and developments driving packaging across the category. The report also examines trends and prospect for various pack types and closures: metal packaging, rigid plastic, glass, liquid cartons, paper-based containers; flexible packaging.

Product coverage: Dried Baby Food, Milk Formula, Other Baby Food, Prepared Baby Food.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
