Report description:

Packaging volumes of flexible plastic, glass bottles, HDPE bottles and squeezable plastic tubes used for facial care products increased over 2020-2021, owing to the reopening of offices, schools and other public places after COVID-19 restrictions. The gradual return of consumers to pre-pandemic conditions helped drive sales of such products, which in turn benefited packaging volumes. Within the pack types used for facial care packaging, HDPE bottles accounted for the highest share, owing to thei...
