Report description:

Dishwashers is a small niche in Mexico with low household penetration. Most consumers either are unable to afford dishwashers or they do not see the benefit of owning one, with most consumers washing dishes by hand. Even wealthier households have limited interest in dishwashers, with these consumers instead often employing maids to carry out their chores, including washing the dishes. The COVID-19 pandemic had little influence on this with sales of dishwashers continuing to grow at a steady pace...
