Report description:

Due to the outbreak of COVID-19 in 2020, the government installed a lockdown from March, which required consumers to spend more time within their own households. This home seclusion led some consumers to stockpile goods, focusing on those with longer shelf lives or non-perishable attributes. This behaviour therefore boosted sales of processed fruit and vegetables, with consumers purchasing processed fruits and vegetables that they could stock within the household. This led to a major growth spik...
