Report description:

Shelf stable beans was still recording positive unit volume growth in 2021, albeit much slower than in 2020, as growing health consciousness in Italy, accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic, also included increased awareness of the nutritional benefits of legumes, including beans. Furthermore, due to their high protein content, legumes are often favoured by those seeking to moderate their intake of meat or eliminate it from their diet completely, whether to improve general health, minimise the env...
