KEY FINDINGS

The global induction motors market is forecasted to grow with a CAGR of xx% in terms of revenue during the forecast years 2022 to 2030. The market's notable growth is credited to the surging popularity of electric vehicles, the dominance of squirrel cage motors in mining, the advantages of cost-effective and easy-to-maintain motors, as well as the rise in technological advancements.

MARKET INSIGHTS

Rapid urbanization has resulted in significantly high rates of air pollution across major cities, globally. As per the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE, United States), more than 90% of air pollution is accredited to vehicle emissions, as well as the limited use of emission control strategies. Consequently, various automobile manufacturers are diverting their attention toward the development of hybrid electric vehicles (HEVs) and electric vehicles (EVs).

The automobile industry is also investing substantially in order to accommodate stringent environmental regulations. Aligning with this, electric vehicle sales are expected to grow exponentially in order to reduce carbon emissions by automobiles. Hence, the surging popularity of electric vehicles is set to play an essential role in augmenting the global induction motors market growth during the forecast years.

REGIONAL INSIGHTS

The global induction motors market growth evaluation comprises the assessment of the Asia-Pacific, North America, Europe, and the Rest of World. The Asia-Pacific is estimated to be the dominating region during the forecast years. Some of the key factors fueling the regional market's growth include the surging use of motors in agricultural machines, the rising number of manufacturing as well as industrial units, and the accelerating demand for electrical energy in power supply generation.
