The increase in the demand for luggage bags is directly proportional to the growing travel and tourism industry. Over the past few years, the global travel and tourism industry has witnessed significant growth. The tourism industry is one of the fastest-growing and most diversified industries globally. Countries such as China, the United States, South Korea, Brazil, the Netherlands, Spain, Germany, and the United Kingdom, have strong outbound tourism. Moreover, in the last few years, the spending on leisure travel by the baby boomer generation has been increasing rapidly, which, in turn, has further boosted the market's growth.

A report from the United Nations World Tourism Organization (UNWTO) indicates that international tourism continued to perform well through July 2022, with arrivals reaching 57% of pre-pandemic levels. Between January and July 2022, international tourist arrivals almost tripled (+172%) compared to the same period in 2021 as governments worldwide eased restrictions on travel, which boosted growth in tourism. Hence the demand for backpacks, travel packs, smart luggage bags, carpet bags, and duffel bags is also likely to increase in the years to come, boosting the sales of luggage bags during the forecast period.

Asia-Pacific Emerges as the Fastest-growing Region

In Asian countries like India, the luggage market has become highly competitive, with established brands, like VIP, competing in the market with new players, like Da Milano. Additionally, the market is set to grow due to a rise in travel and tourism activities and a surging number of business travelers, which is expected to lead to a surge in travel and business bag sales. According to the National Bureau of Statistics of China, in 2021, revenue from tourism in China amounted to roughly CNY 2.92 trillion, an increase from CNY 2.23 trillion in 2020. This indicated the rise in the number of tourists visiting China, which is increasing the demand for luggage.

Additionally, with the rise of urbanization and leisure activities, travel has expanded significantly in this region. People are becoming more inclined toward branded and fashionable travel accessories, including luggage. In recent years, luggage has evolved from a typical clothing packing medium to a more pleasant, convenient, and multi-purpose travel companion. For instance, in August 2021, Samsonite launched the EVOA Tech luggage collection. This new generation of suitcases is specifically designed to interact with its proprietors. The EVOA Tech includes a variety of security features to ensure the safety of a traveler's belongings, including a 3-in-1 Smart lock, a TSA-approved fingerprint lock that enables quick one-touch opening, an anti-theft zipper with a magnetic zipper puller, a 3-digit dial lock, and a USB port. The Asia-Pacific luggage market is increasingly engaged in the production of luggage bags, backpacks, duffel bags, laptop bags, and other various business travel bags, thus, driving the market further in the Asia-Pacific region.
