Report description:

The COVID-19 pandemic, like any other market, affected the carpet and rug industry. The desire for sales was harmed and slowed. Because of the disturbance in the supply chain and value analysis chain, the pandemic has impacted demand and market size.

For generations, weaving carpets and rugs have been a traditional job and a part of the culture in Turkey. Turkish carpets have gained worldwide demand with their unique designs and influential Greek patterns. Western countries need thick carpets, wool, cotton, and silk. The need for carpets and rugs is high for residential purposes, followed by commercial and hospitality industries.

Hotels, corporate offices, and mosques are the major end-users of carpets in Turkey. Machine-made rugs are also gaining more significance in the past few years with their easy-to-installation; Clean has helped them expand to hotels and commercial business segments.

Turkey Carpet & Rugs Market Trends

Increasing Demand for Turkish Carpets Worldwide is Driving the Market

Turkey accounts for over 65% of the world's machine-made carpet production, and more than 60% is produced in the southern province of Gaziantep, Turkey. The country is aiming to surpass China as the leading exporter by increasing exports and sales of handmade, machine-made, and tufting machine-made variant carpets. The total export value of Turkish carpets was USD 3.2 billion in 2021.
