Report description:

2022 was a tough year for home care with Sri Lanka experiencing an economic crisis which has led to hyperinflation and severe import restrictions due to a lack of dollars. Local manufacturers were also unable to import sufficient raw materials. Therefore, despite home care products being viewed as necessities in the country, supply was unable to meet demand, resulting in a decline in volume sales. This along with economic pressures forced consumers to focus more on price and accessibility.
