Report description:

The recovery in travel modes sales is proving a gradual one, given the size of the losses seen in 2020, when the pandemic decimated the travel and tourism industry with its lockdowns, border closures and general restrictions on mobility. While there was a strong rebound in 2021, with another dynamic performance seen in 2022, travel modes sales are not currently expected to return to their pre-pandemic levels until 2025 in real value terms.
