Report description:

With a high vaccination rate in 2022, and the better control of any new outbreaks, there was higher confidence in living with COVID-19. Subsequently, community measures were eased as a result of a more permanent shift by the local government to reopen the country. This led to improved demand for street stalls/kiosks due to smoother operation. For instance, compulsory checks at the entrances of hawker centres and coffee shops were removed, which made it easier for these food operators, which face...
