Report description:

Hypermarkets saw modest growth in current value sales terms in 2022. This represented a vast improvement over the two previous years, when consumers avoided large-format retail outlets and shopped closer to home, in order to reduce the risk of contracting COVID-19. Pandemic-related trading constraints on shopping malls also had a disproportional effect on hypermarkets, as they are mostly sited in these locations. Moreover, even prior to the pandemic, the channel had suffered from consumers' grow...

Euromonitor International's Hypermarkets in Indonesia report offers insight into key trends and developments driving the industry. The report examines all retail channels to provide sector insight. Channels include hypermarkets, supermarkets, discounters, convenience stores, mixed retailers, health and beauty retailers, clothing and footwear retailers, furniture and furnishing stores, DIY and hardware stores, durable goods retailers, leisure and personal goods retailers. There are profiles of leading retailers, with analysis of their performance and the challenges they face. There is also analysis of non-store retailing: vending; homeshopping; internet retailing; direct selling, as available.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
