Report description:

Despite the fallout from the war in Ukraine, which led to high inflation, stemming from high energy prices, nappies/diapers/pants performed well, with healthy constant value growth and moderate volume growth. This was backed up by strong fundamentals in an economy that has huge growth potential as the government's liberalisation policies is leading to increased foreign investment and a diversifying economy, supported by a young population. A high birth rate also supported volume sales.
