Report description:

Economic recovery from COVID-19 in 2021 proved to be slower than anticipated at the beginning of the year. Even with vaccination, new variants proved to be a challenge to keep case numbers down, especially in colder seasons. This impacted schools and the workplace, which continued remote working or shifted to new hybrid systems. The pandemic prevention regulations caused additional costs to businesses, and numerous supply chains ended up disrupted, adding to unemployment. Losses in sales and ear...
