Report description:

Average prices of apparel and footwear grew well above the level of general inflation towards the end of the review period. In 2022, prices even rose above 100% in comparison to the same month of 2021. According to industry sources, this is explained by the strong increase in costs and the prices of raw materials, such as cotton, polyester and nylon. Thus, apparel and footwear saw value growth in 2022 but in terms of units sales registered a contraction.

Euromonitor International's Apparel and Footwear Specialists in Argentina report offers insight into key trends and developments driving the industry. The report examines all retail channels to provide sector insight. Channels include hypermarkets, supermarkets, discounters, convenience stores, mixed retailers, health and beauty retailers, clothing and footwear retailers, furniture and furnishing stores, DIY and hardware stores, durable goods retailers, leisure and personal goods retailers. There are profiles of leading retailers, with analysis of their performance and the challenges they face. There is also analysis of non-store retailing: vending; homeshopping; internet retailing; direct selling, as available.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
