Report description:

Generally speaking, COVID-19 created a boom for grocery retailers in Finland, as a lot of consumption moved from foodservice and travel to grocery retailers. People ate at home instead of going out to eat, because of restrictions on foodservice and/or fear of catching the virus. The growth in the worst years of the pandemic was mainly driven by increasing volume sales, although value growth was higher as prices continued to rise. While supermarkets saw growth as a result, hypermarkets benefited...

Euromonitor International's Supermarkets in Finland report offers insight into key trends and developments driving the industry. The report examines all retail channels to provide sector insight. Channels include hypermarkets, supermarkets, discounters, convenience stores, mixed retailers, health and beauty retailers, clothing and footwear retailers, furniture and furnishing stores, DIY and hardware stores, durable goods retailers, leisure and personal goods retailers. There are profiles of leading retailers, with analysis of their performance and the challenges they face. There is also analysis of non-store retailing: vending; homeshopping; internet retailing; direct selling, as available.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
