Report description:

Appliances and electronics specialists saw stronger than average current value growth in 2020, due to COVID-19. Increased home working practices and extended leisure time at home encouraged consumers to upgrade their technology to make their work and leisure time more productive and enjoyable. Such items included large monitors, printers, and computer accessories. Growth continued, although at a slow pace from an already high level, in 2021. In 2022, despite the normalisation of consumers' lives...

Euromonitor International's Appliances and Electronics Specialists in Norway report offers insight into key trends and developments driving the industry. The report examines all retail channels to provide sector insight. Channels include hypermarkets, supermarkets, discounters, convenience stores, mixed retailers, health and beauty retailers, clothing and footwear retailers, furniture and furnishing stores, DIY and hardware stores, durable goods retailers, leisure and personal goods retailers. There are profiles of leading retailers, with analysis of their performance and the challenges they face. There is also analysis of non-store retailing: vending; homeshopping; internet retailing; direct selling, as available.
