Hong Kong SAR comprises three geographical regions, namely Hong Kong Island, Kowloon Peninsula, and New Territories, and more than 200 outlying islands. Hong Kong being one of the main business hubs of Asia, acts as accelerator for the economic growth. Also, Asia gradually emerging as the lead generator of global growth, boosted significance of Hong Kong as main trading hub for propelling the economic growth of Hong Kong SAR.

Scope

- The service sector remains the key contributor to the regional economy - and the major employer.
- Hong Kong is a key tourist destination for both domestic and international tourists. The COVID-19 pandemic, surge in COVID cases in China and subsequent Zero covid policy of China, and economic disruption due to Ukraine invasion by Russia hampered the economic progress in 2022
