Report description:

Double-digit percentage inflation played a crucial role in maintaining significant value growth in beauty and personal care in 2022. However, it is important to note that while the product area experienced growth, most unit prices of beauty and personal care products increased just below the official inflation rate. This indicates that while consumers were willing to spend on these products, they were also mindful of the rising prices and were seeking value for their money.

Euromonitor International's Beauty and Personal Care in North Macedonia report offers a comprehensive guide to the size and shape of the market at a national level.
