Report description:

Tobacco remains under pressure in 2022, despite the pandemic coming to an end. Cigarettes continues to see volume decline, while cigars and cigarillos have returned to growth after witnessing decline in 2021. The outbreak of COVID-19 in 2020 continues to harm cigarette consumption as more consumers are becoming aware of their overall health, and are either cutting out smoking altogether or switching to perceived healthier alternatives, such as e-vapours.
