Green powders have been part of the regular diet for many Asian countries since ancient times. For example, greens powders are an integral part of Ayurvedic treatments in India; whereas herbs and medicinal mushroom powders have been consumed in countries such as China, Japan, and other South East Asian countries. Recently the market has been experiencing various product innovations with diversified product offerings. Hence, the growing access to diversified products according to the changing lifestyle and consumers' preferences is also attributed to the increasing demand for greens powder across the region. The market growth is also driven by the increasing demand for dietary supplements, especially powdered supplements, and the growing awareness of health and wellness among consumers.
