Report description:

Though e-vapour products are banned in Uruguay, heated tobacco was approved for sale in 2021. The government took the stance that scientific results prove that heated tobacco smoking is less harmful than traditional smoking of tobacco and so has decided to permit the sales of heated tobacco products in Uruguay. However, despite its approval, heated tobacco is not yet available. To date, many countries in Latin America have been reticent about approving heated tobacco, including major economies s...
