Report description:

Whilst still seeing sales declines, imaging devices is faring better in 2023 than seen in 2022. However, we should consider that imaging devices has been in a decline for a decline, due to the growing use of smartphones for taking photographs and recording video. While the picture quality of dedicated digital cameras and camcorders may be superior to that of smartphones, this gap is narrowing - particularly for more expensive smartphones. For many French consumers, the quality of smartphone phot...
