Report description:

The demand for gum in Ukraine suffered heavily in the wake of the Russian invasion of the country in 2022. This was partly because consumers in Ukraine looked to save money, and they tended to make fewer impulse purchases, which included perceived non-essential products like chewing gum and bubble gum. Moreover, the evacuation of children, which followed the outbreak of war in Ukraine, reduced the consumer base for bubble gum. Ukrainian parents had already looked to steer their children away fro...
