Report description:

The ongoing premiumisation and pet humanisation trends as well as a continued expansion of pet populations, which were helping to drive growth in the Western European pet care market over most of 2018-2023, are expected to ensure further sales increases over the forecast period. Demand spiked in 2020, boosted by consumers adopting pets for company during COVID-19 lockdowns, although regional sales were stagnating in 2022, before returning to positive, if modest, growth in 2023.

Euromonitor International's Pet Care in Western Europe global briefing offers an insight into the development of the market, highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces. It identifies the leading and emerging companies and brands, offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market, including background information on pet population, pet ownership by household and prepared gap ratio. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and criteria for success.

Product coverage: Pet Food, Pet Products.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
