Report description:

The available lodging for tourists has declined in 2023 as compared to 2019. The reduction in capacity is a direct result from the government's reliance on tourist accommodation to house those seeking refuge, followed by new legislation impacting short-term rentals. Almost 20% of hotels and hostels in Ireland have been contracted to the government to meet humanitarian needs. This reduction in lodging capacity has presented a significant challenge to Ireland's ability to respond to the growing to...
